Democrats Force Republican-Controlled House to Act On Nov. 12th Recess Resolution

Harrisburg, Oct. 2.—(P)—Democrats forced the Republican-controlled house into a full-scale session today to act on a resolution calling for a recess until Nov. 12.

The senate, however, is standing pat on its demand that the legislature take time out until Dec. 10 before acting on taxes and other important legislation.

The GOP-dominated house rules committee backtracked somewhat yesterday on its previous insistence that the senate keep at its law-making task without a letup.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic floor leader, took issue with the Nov. 12 date, declaring the legislators should hold brief sessions weekly until the senate decides "to get down to business."

He told the House that Democrats felt there was no "financial crisis" at this time. If additional money is needed, Andrews said, the General Assembly could provide it in 1953.

There was an audience of only 39 House members on hand for Andrews' speech—about the only thing that happened in the lower branch yesterday.

But Andrews' speech provided House Republicans with a warning that unless a quorum of 105 members was on hand today, their Nov. 12 recess plan would die.

Telegrams were sent to all 120 House Republicans to be on hand for the recess vote. The proposal carries with it a suggestion that the legislature adjourn finally Nov. 30.

Only 15 senators showed up in the Senate. Eleven Republicans held a brief caucus to act on the House proposal but no decision was reached.

Efforts were started to contact Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, president pro tempore of the Senate, for his views on the House suggestion. Taylor is with Gov. John S. Fine at the governors' conference at Gettysburg, Tenn.

The upper branch acted on a handful of bills but also adjourned until late today.

The House Rules committee, in coming up with the Nov. 12 recess proposal, said its first preference, however, was to continue meeting "until the work of the General Assembly is completed."

There still was no answer here to the question whether Iran's aged premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, would come to New York to make a personal appeal to the Council.

Then he announced he had no power to take part in the debate and said his government would need 10 days to get a high-ranking representative here from Tehran to present its case. Jebb protested, but there was no way of getting around the delay. It is traditional in the U. N. that a government must have time to get its chosen representative to New York.

Father at 85 Says There'll Be More

Whitesburg, Ky., Oct. 2.—(P)—"I'm not through yet by a lot of it," chuckled "Uncle Eli" Lucas, 85-year-old father of 18 children.

Lucas, who has become a father three times since he was 80 years old, said: "There'll be several more, at least until I'm the father of 20—maybe more."

Three of his children have been by his 21-year-old second wife, who was 16 when they married.

HARD-HITTING REMARKS BY GEN. BRADLEY

Tokyo, Oct. 2.—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today United Nations forces in Korea are strong enough "to keep anyone from running over us" and, if truce talks collapse completely, fight the war to a successful military conclusion.

"I don't think the Communists can hurt us," Bradley said in Korea after a two-day tour of the front.

The chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff made it clear the U. N. is ready to resume armistice negotiations anywhere that provides "equal rights" to both sides—even in Kaesong.

However, there was no sign from Red commanders that they were willing to meet either at a no-man's-land site proposed by the U. N., or to completely change conditions in Kaesong to provide "equal rights" to the Allies.

Bradley flew back to Tokyo amid reports that he will cut short his visit.

This may indicate that the purpose of his flying trip from Washington has been accomplished. That purpose has never been announced, although it has been the subject of much speculation.

Bradley's Korean tour was marked by confident, hard-talking statements from American generals who accompanied him, and from Bradley himself.

Bradley did not rule out the possibility that disrupted truce talks might be resumed in Kaesong.

Before flying back to Tokyo with General Ridgway, Bradley said: "It all depends on the circumstances. We've suggested a place with equal rights. So far we have no reply."

Bradley has said he does not feel Kaesong can supply "equal rights" to both negotiating parties. Red troops exclusively police that zone.

He paid unstinting praise to the U. S. Eighth Army, including its attached units from other United Nations.

"Everything I have seen indicates high morale and training," Bradley said. "The team work between the various services has been top. The supply system is in fine shape and I don't think it can be improved."

"We are getting a lot of ammunition up to the front and shooting a lot. And that's how we save (Allied) lives."

Scarbrough, England, Oct. 2.—(P)—Aneurin Bevan and his left wing critic of Britain's rearmament program won a smashing vote of confidence today at the expense of Prime Minister Clement Attlee's middle-of-the-road Socialists.

The annual Labor Party conference here elected Bevanites to four of the seven political seats on the national executive committee. These seats represent vital local labor parties on the 28-member committee.

Bevan topped the poll with 855,000 votes, an increase over his victory total of 849,000 a year ago.

The political seats held by the local parties represent about one-sixth of the Socialists' strength. But the local labor parties are the door-bell ringers and the hard core of the party workers during any election campaign—and the ruling Socialists are underdogs to Winston Churchill's Conservatives in the Oct. 25 parliament election.

The local parties' heavy support of Bevan and his group certainly will influence the policies of any future Socialist government.

Johnstown, Oct. 2.—(P)—Adam Porowsky, 75, of nearby Portage, raised his bedroom window to chase away barking dogs and was killed in a fall to the ground.

Terms of the agreement were not announced. However, the teacher, Stanley W. Gibson, who had been fighting the board's dismissal order, will not teach at Amboy High School.

The agreement announced yesterday was understood to allow Gibson, 31 and divorced, to resign his post and the school board will withdraw its dismissal notice. He has been under suspension since the start of the current school year and his dismissal was to become effective Nov. 2.

A statement by the board and Gibson said the settlement was "for the best interests of the school, the community and all the parties involved."

Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! 92% of all Mercurys ever built for use in this country are still on the road, according to latest annual official registration figures.

Will trade-in value stay high? Mercury's continue to keep their value year after year; used car market reports consistently prove it.

Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the story from your Mercury dealer. See him soon.

Hal Boyle's Comment

By HAL BOYLE
New York—Everybody has a hobby these days, from bird watching to collecting early photos of Gypsy Rose Lee.

My hobby is reading Sunday newspapers. On Sunday, this hobby has been the bane of my dear wife's life for 14 years.

"If I had known about that beforehand I'd never have married you," sighed Frances. "Why don't you collect butterflies? Then we could be out in the fields together and get some fresh air. Or golf? I'd be glad to carry the clubs for both of us, if you'd just take up golf."

"But no, not you. All you want to do is sit upside down in a chair and read Sunday newspapers." There are two kinds of Sunday newspaper hobbyists—the skimmers and the perfectionists.

The skimmers are those who lie in bed with a handful of Sunday papers. They rip open the pages rapidly, scanning a story here, an ad there, until they are covered from head to foot by a paper tent that shuts out the light. Then they fall asleep.

Personally, I think the skimmers are people who move their lips while they read. I belong to the perfectionist, or classic school of hobbyists. We are never happy unless we read a Sunday paper all the way through—stories, ads, and pictures.

One of the great sadnesses of my life is that I have never been able to do this with the Sunday New York Times. Reading it from first page to last is a goal as challenging to my fellow hobbyists as the English Channel is to long-distance swimmers.

The Times has just observed its hundredth anniversary. And as a footnote to its celebration I'd like to announce that last week, after 14 years of effort, I finally read my way clear through its Sunday edition. In a single day. That's important. I've done it several times by spreading it over several days.

The morning dawned clear and fair. There was a note of victory in the air. I was in fine fettle.

When my wife brought in the papers, I told her, "Honey, it's today or never."

"What? Not again?" she wailed. Just to warm up I paged through the other Sunday papers in two hours. Then I turned to the Times. It was only 266 pages—a hopeful sign.

By noon I had zoomed through the general news sections (76 pages), the real estate section (22), and the classified ads (16). It was cheering to note that $250 a month apartments are again in good supply.

After a late breakfast of eggs, bacon and tea, I went right back to my hobby. By 2 p. m., I had raked up sports (12), drama, music, art and travel (26).

Then, after fifteen minutes of trotting around the room and doing full knee bends, I took on the business and business opportunities section (12 pages), and decided to leave my $500 in government bonds and let the stock market struggle on without me.

Next came my favorite, the book review section (36). It was then 6:30 p. m. My wife brought in a meat sandwich, and pleaded:

"Give up, dear. You'll go blind." Never! Groggily I attacked the magazine section (56 pages). By 10 p. m. it was done, and I felt refreshed from the pictures.

After ten minutes more of deep knee bends, I turned into the home stretch—the review of the week. Twelve pages later I sank back, exhausted but happy. I had made it—after all these years.

"My hero!" said Frances tenderly. "You must rest now, dear. Next week we'll go to the country—and no newspapers for you."

"Don't be silly," I told her. "Whoever heard of just swimming the English Channel one way? Next week I'm going to go clear through the Sunday edition backward."

I will, too. But no man in history ever did that.

Special Advisor to Civil Service to Speak Here Soon

Announcement has been made that Major O. P. Beeman, retired British Army officer, residing at Whitford, Chester county, recently appointed by State Civil Defense as special advisor for Civil Defense in Pennsylvania, will be in Warren to deliver a talk at a public meeting in the court house Wednesday evening, October 24th.

In making the announcement of Major Beeman's appointment, Governor Fine emphasized the fact that Major Beeman is an internationally known authority on civil defense. During World War II he was one of the top officials in civil defense in London.

"This man is no mere theorist," the governor said. "He learned civil defense the hard way. He grappled with the death and destruction rained down on London by the Nazi bombers during the battle for Britain."

"Major Beeman spent the past summer in England," the governor continued. "There he renewed his long-time relationship with Sir John Hodsoll, director-general of civil defense for the United Kingdom. Through Sir John's courtesy, Major Beeman attended both the British Civil Defense Staff College at Sunningdale and the Civil Defense Instructor's School at Farnfield, where he was brought up to date on the latest civil defense techniques, including the new problems of atomic warfare."

In response to queries by members of the press, Major Beeman stated: "Time and time again British authorities have emphasized the fact that civil defense was a major factor in winning the last war. But the thing we must remember is that a paper organization is worthless unless every available citizen, man and woman, has been trained in one or other of the jobs of civil defense. However well the Army, Navy and Air Force play their part, the ultimate responsibility for winning the war will rest on the individual citizen. Today everyone is in the firing line."

Dr. Richard Gerstell, state director of civil defense, stated that, beginning early in October, Major Beeman's services will be made available to local civil defense organizations now struggling with problems of organization and training.

Phalanx Fraternity Completing Plans For Oct. 27 Dance

Plans for the Phalanx Fraternity Halloween Dance to be held in the Youth Canteen on October 27 were nearly completed last evening when the organization met at the YMCA.

With the appointment of John Kylander as chairman and Blaine Jones, Francis Masterson, and Charles Vermilyea committee members, the group decided on a costume party for couples only of young adult age and over.

Last evening's session of Phalanx Fellowship was called to order by Primus Allen Anderson and Jack Updegraff led devotions.

Following the usual reports, members were reminded that the formal induction would be held next Monday evening at 7 p. m. in the association rooms.

Arnold Swanson, Ralph Hoffman, and Frank Carr volunteered to contact officials of the Bradford YMCA and talk over the possibility of the local chapter organizing a Phalanx Club in that town. They are to make their report at the next meeting.

An account of the final meeting of the Student Summer Program committee held at the Woman's Club last Monday was presented by Anderson, who represented the Phalanx in the group.

Deane Swanson, quaestor, brought up the idea that a Freedom Scroll be secured and signed by members of the fraternity as their part in the Crusade for Freedom program now being carried on, and it was accepted.

At the close of the business session Jack Updegraff, program chairman for the week, presented a movie and refreshments were served.

Farmer Badly Hurt When Trampled By Frightened Horses

Eugene J. Eckert, 54, of Noble's Hill road, Chandler's Valley, is in "fair" condition today in W. C. A. Hospital, Jamestown, after suffering severe injuries in a farm accident, Monday afternoon.

Mr. Eckert was unhitching a favorite team of horses from a manure spreader on a grade in front of his barn, having failed to block the wheels. The tongue was down and as the harness was loosened, the spreader slid onto the horses. They lunged ahead, knocking Mr. Eckert down and trampling him in their excitement. Mrs. Eckert saw the accident from a window and after ascertaining that her husband had been badly injured, summoned the Schoonover ambulance from Sugar Grove which rushed Mr. Eckert to the hospital. The horses quieted immediately after their fright and stood nearby until put into their stall.

At the hospital today it was said Mr. Eckert has a badly fractured leg, lacerations to his face, ear and shoulder. Mrs. Eckert said this morning that it is planned to perform an operation on Thursday to insert a plate to replace the crushed bone.

SENTENCED TO PRISON

Convicted of fatally kicking his 15-month-old daughter in the stomach, Charles Huffman, of Corry, today began serving six to twelve years in Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh. The child, Joyce Marie, died May 23 of injuries which the state contended were inflicted by Huffman during a rage over the baby's crying.

Youngsville Scout Tells Rotarians of Experiences Abroad

In his address at the Rotary Club Program meeting at the YWCA yesterday, Explorer Scout Gilbert Sanford told members of his experiences at the Seventh International Jamboree at Bad Ischl, Austria.

Relating to his meeting of two Russian Scouts who had escaped the Iron Curtain, young Sanford also mentioned the many cities and towns visited on his journey. These included Algiers, Florence, Rome, Venice, Brenner Pass, Innsbruck and Salzburg.

On the trip home from the Jamboree, which was attended by 13,500 boys from 61 countries, he had the opportunity to stop in Oberammergau and visit several of the bombed out cities of Germany, in addition to spending several days in Paris.

President Bill Lutz presided and the program was introduced by Bert Kinney.

Leroy Schreck, of WNAE, also spoke briefly on the Crusade for Freedom program in Warren and Warren County.

Youth Crusade Day To Be Observed With Broadcast

"What is life really like behind the Iron Curtain?"

Bing Crosby, with his four sons, Gary, Dennis, Michael and Lindsay, will tell the youth of America in a half-hour program, "Youth Crusade with the Crosbys," as part of the nation-wide Crusade for Freedom Campaign, according to an announcement by David Potter, Warren County chairman of the drive, and manager of Station WNAE.

The program will be broadcast to Warren County schools at nine a. m. Wednesday, October 3, which has been officially designated as Youth Crusade Day in a notification sent by County Superintendent H. L. Blair, to all principals. Both high and grade schools will hear it as part of the regular in-school listening program in Warren, Youngsville, Tidoute, Sheffield, Sugar Grove and in rural schools wherever possible.

"Are you willing to give up three pieces of bubble gum?" Bing asks the youngsters of America. "Three cents will buy one brick for a new Radio Free Europe station to carry the truth to the people behind the Iron Curtain." He urges each one to contribute a few cents to this great world-wide effort.

Freedom Scrolls and campaign buttons have been sent to all schools in the county, and Chairman Potter hopes that several thousand signatures will be forthcoming from the students. This, he points out, is a campaign for the future, and no one is more interested in the future than the children of the present.

One feature of the program will be an actual interview, recorded in Munich, Germany, with a Czech boy who has lived under the Communist regime. The famous Crosbys will account what is being done, and what can be done, to fight Communism throughout the world. Several typical Crosby songs will brighten the show.

The Crusade for Freedom began in Warren County on September 24 and will continue through October 30, with a goal of $735 in cash and 5,552 signatures on the Freedom Scroll. The nation-wide aim is for three and one-half million dollars and twenty-five million signatures. More powerful transmitters for Europe, and a Freedom Station in Asia, will be established with the proceeds.

PROCLAMATION

Designating October 4, 1951
LIBRARY DAY

WHEREAS, the American Library Association was founded in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on October 4, 1876, and marked the beginning of a new era in library development, and

WHEREAS, libraries and their services have become integral parts of the educational, cultural, social, and economic life of our nation, and our state and city, and

WHEREAS, through its "Library Bill of Rights" the American Library Association has set forth policies which provide all citizens with access to information on the highest level of intellectual freedom, and

WHEREAS, throughout its 75th anniversary year, the American Library Association is conducting an educational program under community library leadership with the theme: "The Heritage of the U. S. A. in Times of Crisis," and

WHEREAS, this 75th anniversary program is devoted to a re-statement of the American Heritage in terms of present-day crisis and to a stimulation of general thinking on the problem of how to defend our freedom by understanding its origin and its application to the great problems of today, and

WHEREAS, in this way and through constant devotion to the great task of helping citizens think through their problems, our librarians render inestimable service, and

WHEREAS, October 4, 1951 has been designated National Library Day to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the American Library Association and to give special opportunity for our citizens to pay tribute to libraries and librarians;

NOW, THEREFORE, I Wm. F. Crossett designate the day of October 4, 1951 as Library Day in Warren and call on all citizens and civic organizations to bring their attention and their expressions of appreciation to this occasion in Warren.

(Signed) Wm. F. Crossett

Home Extension Planning - Meeting Is Held at Russell

Russell, Oct. 2.—At a home extension planning meeting held at the home of Mrs. Paul Wood, it was decided to have sessions on various subjects, the first to deal with finishing touches in sewing (zippers, bound buttonholes, etc.) and to be held at the home of Mrs. Lester Hale at 1:00 p. m. Friday.

A meeting on kitchen planning will be held as soon as a time and place have been decided upon and all interested in either of these sessions are cordially invited.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wood were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Howells and family, Corry; George Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wood, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Clair Wood and daughter, Starbuck; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wood and family, Akeley; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Peterson and son, Russell. The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of Ivan Wood.

Mrs. Kenneth Ohmer is a surgical patient in Warren General Hospital.

Shirley Bailey underwent an appendectomy at Warren General Hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Ernest Peterson was hostess to the A. Number One club Thursday. Mrs. Roy Thompson will be hostess to the next meeting.

The Wiltie Ladies Aid held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Oscar Brustromire, Frewsburg. Mrs. Herbert Lundhark presided at the business meeting and named Mrs. Conrad Venman and Mrs. Virgil Williams as a committee for a Halloween social to be held at the Wiltie schoolhouse. The afternoon was spent working on a quilt. The hostess served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kalgren, Akron, O., are spending a week at the Nordland homestead on Swede Hill.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

The sale of the Newmaker property to Nelson & Elberg has already shown promising results, whether it be for private enterprise or community need. The four acres purchased will make a good improvement at the "head" or east end of the island if completely filled in. One part was unnecessarily used as a dumping ground by different stores and companies who should have fumigated or sprayed it from time to time. This nor the land of Stoneacres has never been used by the residents of Clark street.

I speak of a group of respected families who for over a generation have lived and raised their children on the island, have fought terrible flood waters, and many times have filled in their own private property and adjoining land to combat high water. No borough help, no dykes, no caution other than their own has been given to flood control. Perhaps when Stoneacres and Newmaker's field is filled in, which will take a tremendous amount of dirt, this condition will be somewhat alleviated. But regardless of this circumstance, the people have stayed and been staunch neighbors.

When the bulldozers go to work covering the area, rich fertile ground that was once cultivated to fine gardens, and fields that in Spring are a mass of beautiful purple and blue violets, will be gone. How thoughtful and practical it is to save the old sycamores and maple trees that have been there since the first logs thundered and splashed in the stream to the mill.

The "hobo jungle", and every locality possesses one, was never molested by the residents of Clark St. nor brought to the public eye by print, picture, or word. It belonged to a group of society that could neither be accepted nor ejected.

As the work of Nelson and Elberg progresses it will be interesting to watch the development, and may the outcome be worthy of the intended use.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS—From Zenger to Oatis (3)

Illustrated by Ralph Lane

The Zenger trial had defined libel but it remained for another Hamilton—to define the liberty of the press. Said Hamilton, "... the liberty of the press consists of the right to publish with impunity truth with good motives for justifiable ends though reflecting on government, magistracy and individuals." These classic words rang out in New York's Supreme Court in 1804 as the statesman sought a new trial for Harry Crosswell, Federalist editor convicted of publishing an attack on President Thomas Jefferson.

Hamilton failed. Furthermore, a remark Hamilton made at the trial was directly responsible for his fatal duel with political rival Aaron Burr. One of America's greatest statesmen and most generous patrons of journalism, Hamilton left behind him a concept of press freedom that has survived almost 150 years.

INVITATION TO THE WOMEN

Cartoonists of the past have built many a gag on women drivers, back-seat drivers and other real or imagined foibles of the fair sex in relation to the automobile.

So it was a little unusual and decidedly refreshing when the National Safety Council announced the establishment of an annual reward to the woman who contributes the most to traffic safety.

It is called the Carol Lane Award, since the project is being underwritten by the Shell Oil Company and Carol Lane is the name of the women's travel director of that company.

We can only compliment the Shell people and the Council for this recognition of the role women can play in the making of our streets and highways safer.

Dorothy Thomson said: "The history of the reforms women have advocated is the history of the humanizing of our society."

The traffic toll is reaching such proportions that major reform is called for. Women can and should play a leading part.

If women have been back-seat drivers in safety, here is an invitation to them to sit up front.

ECONOMY OR EMPTY TALK?

The house and senate conferees wound up by agreeing to a foreign aid total of $7,483,400,000 for the new fiscal year—almost $200,000,000 greater than the senate had voted, but about $15,000,000 under the house figure.

This represents a triumph of sort for reason in foreign affairs, and may partly be ascribed to an urgent appeal by cable from General Eisenhower in Paris.

But the fact remains that the Congress still left the measure $1,000,000,000 short of administration requests—without particular point. The argument advanced, of course, was economy. But since the lawmakers don't practice that in any other field, it stands as a flimsy excuse that will not bear close scrutiny.

Chances are that Congress will have to make up the $1,000,000,000 deficiency later in the year. If and when that happens, it ought to be well noted by a public which has been listening for many years now to utterly empty talk of economy.

SALUTE TO PRESS

Gov. John S. Fine Monday saluted the press of Pennsylvania in observance of National Newspaper Week, which started yesterday and continues through October 8th.

"Good government has no more powerful ally than a free press conscious of its public duty," the governor said in a statement.

"In no nation have the people lost their liberties so long as their press remained free, fair and fearless. I especially like Newspaper Week's Pennsylvania theme 'Preserving freedom is your job.' It hurls a challenge which newspapers and citizens alike must recognize and accept."

LONG LIVE THE KING!

Everywhere in the world except in Communist party circles—which decent folk may well consider out of bounds for humanity—there is deep satisfaction that Britain's King George VI appears to be making a strong fight for recovery.

A monarch who had duty thrust upon him when his brother abdicated, George VI has gained perhaps more than the usual sympathy accorded a sovereign for the performance of his often lonely ceremonial responsibilities. He has served his country and the free world well. They now wish him a quick return to health.

Here And There

Fifty years ago today the North-western Association G. A. R. held a basket picnic at Irvinedale Park, with about 500 in attendance. According to the article in the Evening Times of October 2, 1901, "crowds of veterans began arriving early in the morning and each train was crowded. A large number of old soldiers from McKean county arrived on the Flyer, accompanied by their wives and in many instances by their entire families."

"The later trains all brought their quotas. A special train from Franklin and Oil City, transferring its passengers and coaches to the regular B & A V. train arriving in Warren at 10:15 o'clock. On this came the members of Mays Post, Franklin, to the number of 65, and the Oil City veterans in large numbers."

"Arriving here everyone hurried to the Park. The G. A. R. marched to the center of the town, accompanied by the Warren band and the Fort Venango musicians. At the transfer office they boarded cars for Irvinedale."

"The latter part of the morning and the early part of the afternoon were spent in an informal way, and not until 2:30 o'clock did the orators of the day address the old soldiers."

"It was a sore disappointment to the veterans that General Miller and Governor Stone, and staff, did not arrive. The Governor is attending the Stoneboro fair today, while General Miller is ill, and not able to leave his home."

The Associated Press office in New York City advises us that all but the last-minute arrangements have been completed for the first coast-to-coast telecast of World Series baseball. Radio will be on hand as usual, also coast-to-coast, with short wave added. Airtime has been set for 12:45 p. m. on both radio and TV, 15 minutes ahead of game time to permit a preview of activities. Marshall's Resignation Was Well-Kept Washington Secret

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Best kept secret in gossip and leaky Washington's memory was Gen. George C. Marshall's resignation as Secretary of Defense. For over three months, the only people who knew about it were President Truman, Defense Under Secretary Robert A. Lovett and Secretary Marshall himself. Maybe they told their wives, but nobody else.

Original date for the resignation was June 30. Then Russia's Jake Malik started the Korean cease-fire talk. General Marshall stayed on for a time to see how that would work out. General Marshall took a short vacation in August. Before he left, President Truman agreed to accept the resignation Sept. 1.

Shortly before, Secretary of State Dean Acheson was cut in on the secret. He was about to leave for San Francisco, and didn't want his negotiations there upset in any way by starting new rumors about his own possible resignation. So General Marshall was persuaded to stay till the Jap peace treaty was signed.

Sept. 11 the Cabinet was told, and a few rumors flew around that night, but couldn't be confirmed. Next morning at 9:30, Marshall told his Armed Forces Policy Council. At 10 o'clock he told his official staff and at 10:30 he called in the press.

WATCH for Soviet Russia to launch another big "peace offensive," along about the time that the United Nations General Assembly convenes in Paris early in November. Thwarted by the Japanese peace treaty signing at San Francisco and alarmed by the new "peace contract" which the western European powers are proposing to make with western Germany, the Russians are expected to let go with a heavy propaganda attack on the west. General tenor is expected to be a repetition of the old line that the capitalist war mongers are preparing to launch offensive warfare on the peace-loving democracies of the Soviet bloc.

There's a nice problem for the Senate on whether the proposed "peace contract" with Germany constitutes a treaty, or whether it's merely an executive agreement. If the former, it would require ratification by the U. S. Senate. If the latter, it could be signed by the President and/or the Secretary of State and Defense, or even by U. S. High Commissioner to Germany John J. McCloy.

Lawyers can have a field day arguing that the peace contract is not a full-fledged treaty, since it does not finally settle all problems of German boundaries and reunification. But for the sake of bipartisan cooperation, and profiting by the experience with the Japanese peace treaty, the Senate will probably be given a chance to ratify the German peace contract, along about January.

HERE'S another sterling example of Senatorial oratory, anger, semantics and syntax as exemplified in the statement of Idaho Senator Herman Welker before a subcommittee on legislative expenditures:

"... I was disgraced at the furniture and carpeting that was furnished to me as representative of my State in the House of Congress. ... I had better carpeting in my dog house in Idaho than I have in my workroom in the United States Capitol, in the Senate Office building, Mr. Chairman. I have only this observation. The United States senators have a selling job to do, and it certainly should be to the point that at least their offices are dignified."

And here's another magnificent example of debate and courtesy in the Senate floor, as demonstrated by two Gentlemen from Indiana: Senator Jenner—"The Senator (Capehart) is making a fine speech, but he is wasting his breath. He is not changing any votes. The press will not report what he is saying, and he might as well take his seat." Senator Capehart—"I shall be very happy to do so."

AROUND THE WORLD

PRELUDE TO MAYHEM—These Japanese Sumo wrestlers, currently on tour in the United States, do the Ishikiri, a ritual which precedes the actual wrestling. Yakatayama, left, and Fujitayama work out in a New York hotel gymnasium, in preparation for matches at nearby arenas.

BORING JOB—A crew member of the super dreadnaught, U.S.S. New Jersey, cleans the bore of one of the 16-inch main battery rifles after firing on Communist installations and supply centers in Korea. The Big Jay, as the ship is called by her crew, has harassed the Reds daily in support of ground troops.

URNING A KISS—Champion Marchesa, prize-winning Italian greyhound, sits in an earthenware urn and plants a kiss on the nose of a young visitor to the Italian Fair held by New York's R. H. Macy and Co. The girl, four-year-old Christine Riskie of New Milford, N. J., holds Champion Marchesa's two three-month-old puppies, Angelina and Roberto.

AIR FORCE PROGRESS—The seal of approval goes to new plastic dishes, such as the airman on the right is using, which will replace the old-style compartmented trays, like the one at the left, in Air Force mess halls. The halls will have their faces lifted, too, pretty tables for four and upholstered chairs being in order.

PRETTY CASTLE—Lovely Peggy Castle apparently is afraid the tide will rise suddenly as she strolls along the beach at Los Angeles, so she carries her raft with her. There'd be plenty of life guards ready, though, for a charmer like Peggy.

A BATTY HAT—Metropolitan Opera star Irra Petina models a "Bat Hat" especially designed for her by New York's Mr. John. Made of black feathers in the shape of a bat, it'll be worn by Irra when she sings in Johann Strauss' Die Fledermaus.

THE CHIEF'S HOME—This photograph, taken from the top of the Washington Monument in the nation's capital, shows the White House, with construction work going on in clear view. During the past year, the residence of the President has undergone extensive repairs. Workmen have proclaimed the place in "terrible shape" and expressed wonder that no serious accident ever took place because of the building's age.

APPROPRIATE—This stenographer, an employee of the European Movement group, dresses for her work in a sweater with various national flags woven into it and wears a scarf with an E. for a united Europe, on it. She's at a meeting in Hamburg, Germany.

THERE'S NUTTIN' LIKE MUTTON—Two of some 40,000 French Colonial troops holding maneuvers in the desert country along the Algerian-Tunisian border take time out for a Moslem Fiesta. They prepare the favorite local dish, roasted whole mutton on a spit. Such a feast is the North African desert equivalent of the old-fashioned American wienie roast.

Mrs. C. M. Wilson 94 Today, Husband 94 on Saturday, Bear Lake Couple Looks Forward To Diamond Wedding Anniversary Next July

Mrs. Charles C. Wilson of Bear Lake, who was born in Freehold township 94 years ago today, crossed her living room yesterday afternoon as actively as anyone half her age, and took her place on a divan, beside her husband, for a double birthday photograph. Mr. Wilson having been 94 on Saturday. "Monday is no day to take pictures," she remarked, humorously. "Monday is wash day and I did a big wash this morning."

It was indeed a heartening experience to visit this remarkable couple. No shadow of old age around their pleasant home. Every evidence of immaculate house-keeping, and a cheery atmosphere which was contagious. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were anxious to be on their way to visit their great-granddaughter, Pamela Jane Williams, at Portageville, N. Y., in company with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams of Youngsville, who were waiting to drive them to Portageville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are looking forward with pardonable pride to next July 20, 1952, when they will celebrate their seventy-fifth wedding anniversary. On March 29, 1894, they were present for the fiftieth wedding anniversary of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams, Youngsville.

Known to practically every resident of Bear Lake and all Freehold township, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have spent their entire lives in that township. He was born Sept. 29, 1857, and Mrs. Wilson was born October 2, 1857, her maiden name having been Alta J. Ayling; they were married in Corry on July 20, 1877. Their married life began on the farm between Lottsville and Columbus where Mr. Wilson was born and Mr. Wilson was engaged in shipping stock to New York and Buffalo for about 30 years. They have lived for 45 years in the home at Bear Lake where Mr. Wilson was tax collector and constable until his retirement 11 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are in remarkably good health, and enjoying life to its fullest extent every day of the year.

The Wilsons have two sons, E. A. Wilson, 514 East Main street, Youngsville, and C. M. Wilson, Niobe, N. Y. The former has one son Reginald Wilson of Pittsburgh, who has a daughter, Jacqueline Ann, while C. M. Wilson has two children, Millard M. Wilson of Portageville, N. Y., whose daughter, Pamela Jane, aged four months, is the only great-grandchild.

Times-Mirror readers will want to join together in wishing Mrs. Wilson a happy ninety-fourth birthday today, and in extending to Mr. Wilson best wishes, belatedly, upon his ninety-fourth birthday, Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Sechrist, Pleasant township, has returned from Detroit, Mich., where she has been visiting her parents and friends.

Mrs. Edith Kapp Re-elected President At WCTU Convention Held at Russell

Russell, Oct. 2—Holding their annual fall convention in the local Methodist church, Warren County WCTU members elected the following officers to serve in the coming year: Mrs. Edith Kapp, president; Mrs. Bessie Walters, recording secretary; Mrs. Gladys Jamieson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Viola Putnam, treasurer.

Another important item of business was awarding of prizes in the annual essay and poster contests in Russell school; Marilyn Jensen and Richard Ristau, essays from Warren; Helen Christie, Connie Coffman, Jack McIntyre, Geraldine Moore, Diane McIntyre and Robert Schwab, essays and posters in Tidoute.

Mrs. Florence Hammer and Mrs. Viola Putnam were in charge of the reception and registration which opened the session and Mrs. Joyce Briggs conducted devotions. Following the routine opening and reports of the corresponding secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Jamieson and Mrs. Viola Putnam, Mrs. Bessie Walters and Mrs. Ethel Summerville presented "Total Abstinence of the Bible"; Mrs. Leah Hale and Mrs. Mable Pearson sang "We Would Be Building"; all joined in a departmental forum, and Mrs. Dora Linneman voiced the noonday prayer.

Following a twelve luncheon in the church parlors, the session resumed with devotions by Mrs. Anna Arnold and flag salutes led by Mrs. Rose Bradley. Greetings were extended to delegates and members by the following representatives of local organizations: The Methodist church, Rev. John L. Buck; WBS, Mrs. May Wood; Grange, Mrs. Leland Haller; PTA, Mrs. Axel Carlstrom; WCTU, Mrs. Florence Hammer. Mrs. Gladys Jamieson gave the response.

Continuing, Mrs. Margaret Mack presented the White Ribbon Recruits; Dr. C. H. VerMilyea was heard in special music; Mrs. Edith Kapp, "Liquor Public Enemy No. 1"; Mrs. Viola Putnam, the offering; Mrs. Mabel Dallas, highlights of the national convention in Boston; Mrs. Iva Belle Richard, the annual memorial service.

The remainder of the afternoon session was devoted to election and installation of officers and reports of committees.

At 8:00 p. m., the group enjoyed a banquet served by the WBS in the church parlors and a social time was enjoyed before the evening session convened at 7:30. Program numbers included organ music by Mrs. Briggs; devotions, Rev. Buck; music, the junior choir; address, Mrs. Mary Bennett, Forestville, N. Y.; the offering, Mrs. Putnam; a hymn; and the benediction by Rev. Buck. Resolutions, expressing the aims and purposes of the organization and expressing appreciation for their hospitality in Russell, were presented by a committee consisting of Mrs. J. E. Walters, Mrs. Gertrude Lawrence and Mrs. Mabel Dallas.

Benson - Kitelinger Wedding Saturday

Russell, Oct. 2—Two well known local young people, Doris E. Kitelinger and Clair LeRoy Benson, were united in marriage at 8:00 p. m. Saturday, September 29, in a simple ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kitelinger.

The Rev. John Buck, pastor of Russell Methodist church, read the service against a background of fall flowers.

Wearing a gray suit, with black accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds, the bride had as her only attendant, Mrs. Glenn Swanson, Jamestown, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom. She wore red accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds with a gray suit.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Benson, had Paul Kitelinger, brother of the bride, as his best man.

A reception followed in the Kitelinger home at 9:00 o'clock, the 35 guests including Mr. and Mrs. John Erasington, Tionesta; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Swanson, Jamestown.

The newlyweds will reside at the bridegroom's home.

Federated Clubs Will Gather at Sires Home

The Warren County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Ralph E. Sires, 6 Second avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

This will be an outstanding occasion and member-clubs are urged to send large representations. The club is particularly honored to have as a guest, Mrs. J. Perry Eckels, vice president of the Northwest District, and to present Mrs. Rex Stowers Clements, of Bryn Mawr, as the speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Clements was the outstanding speaker at the State Federation meeting in York, and the Warren county organization feels highly honored to be able to schedule her appearance. She is a teacher of English and has traveled extensively, a woman of personality and poise.

A large attendance is expected. Tea will be served by the executive board at the close of the meeting.

HOLY REDEEMER CARD PARTY OCTOBER 24

The Holy Redeemer card party committee, composed of about 20 parishioners, have announced its annual autumn party for the evening of October 24, the event to be held in the church hall.

The committee holds three parties each year and the fall affair always seems to be the most popular. Decorations will be in keeping with the hallowe'en season, and the lunch to be served by a sub-committee will be something very special.

The fact that the following ladies will have direct charge of all arrangements guarantees a most successful event: Mrs. Natalie Sealie, Mrs. Willard Briggs, Miss Ester Snyder and Mrs. Henry Allinger.

BRIDGE, FIVE HUNDRED, CANASTA AND A SERIES OF GAMES WILL BE PLAYED, WITH VALUABLE AWARDS IN ALL CONTESTS. MANY OTHER PRIZES WILL ALSO BE GIVEN.

The WBS of the Grace church will meet in the church dining room on Friday at 7:45 o'clock. Mrs. T. E. Colley, Erie, will be the guest speaker, and will show slides and tell about her trip to England. The Joy Comstock circle will have charge of the social hour, with Mrs. Richard Hildum as chairman and Mrs. Elmer Samuelson as co-chairman. All are invited to bring a friend.

If This Describes You, You're a Paragon of Mothers

IT'S a good mother who—
However overjoyed she is to see school start doesn't express those feelings in front of her children.
Is as particular in choosing a baby-sitter as in choosing her own companions.
Is careful not to pass on all her own fears and prejudices to her children.

Doesn't mind the "happy" noise of children—the kind that comes from spirited play.
Makes her children's friends feel as welcome as her own.
Prevents her children from turning into teasing whiners by being sure she really means "No" before she says it and then standing by the "No."
Laughs often with her children.
Takes the time to answer her children's questions in language they can understand.
Resists the impulse to keep telling her children how much she does for them.

DOESN'T WORRY OVER TRIFLES
Doesn't let herself get upset over small catastrophes, but shows her children by example that the way to handle a problem is calmly to figure out the best way to solve it and get on with the job with as little fuss as possible.
Distinguishes between the intentional and unintentional trouble her children make for her.
Doesn't nag.
Doesn't blame her children for her own mistakes, such as losing patience with them if they get cross when kept up long past their bedtime.
Never embarrasses her children in front of their friends.
Doesn't compare one child with another.
Enjoys being a mother—at least most of the time.

Recognition Is Given Grace Church Members

Seventy-eight members of Grace Methodist church school were recognized in a special service Sunday, when they were honored for not having missed more than two Sundays during the past year. Twelve members had a perfect attendance record for the same period.

The superintendent, Henry Wyman, revealed that the average attendance during the past year reached 450, the highest in the history of the school.

Ervin Rader directed the program and among those participating were Thomas McCune, Norma Sponsler, Dennis Lord, David Lindberg, Lewis Garber and Mrs. Dwight Sile. Howard Smith is chairman of the board of educational program of the church.

MEETING HELD BY DORCAS SOCIETY

The Dorcas Ladies of the Seventh Day Adventist church held a meeting at the home of Mrs. C. W. Pearson, 129 Russell street, recently to do what they could for Kansas Flood sufferers. Seven large boxes were packed, and the next day two men from the church packed three more and took them to the Express Company. The contents consisted of blankets, pillows, sheets, pillow cases, towels, comforts and good used clothing. Another call has come for warm winter clothing for children, and anyone having clothing she wishes to donate, is asked to call 539 and someone will call for it.

DR. CRANE TO SPEAK AT PLEASANT P. T. A.

Dr. J. F. Crane, North Warren, will be the guest speaker at the Pleasant Township PTA meeting at eight o'clock Thursday at the Pleasant School. Dr. Crane will give his illustrated talk on his travels through Europe. The public is cordially invited. The membership drive for the PTA will be held during the months of October and November.

RUSSELL REBEKAHS PLAN INSTALLATION

Lady Pine Grove Rebekah Lodge at Russell will have installation of officers as the highlight of its regular meeting at 8:00 p. m. Thursday in the IOOF hall. Hazel Witz, district deputy president, will be present with her staff from Warren to conduct the ceremonies.

BETROTHAL

Peter Lucia, 908 Fourth avenue, announces the engagement of his youngest daughter, Ann Mary, to Jack Q. McAvoy, son of Mrs. Elva McAvoy, 205 West Main street, Sheffield. No date has been set for the wedding.

35th Anniversary of Clarence Loney's Occasion of Party

Florence Almendinger, of Starbrick, and Clarence Loney, of Townville, who were married 35 years ago today in the parsonage of the First Evangelical church by the Rev. A. M. Rickel, greeted more than 50 relatives and friends Sunday in a delightful open house given at their home in Starbrick.

The affair was arranged by their two daughters, Mrs. Howard Putnam, Warren, and Mrs. Gail Geer, Starbrick, with guests from Warren, O., Harrisburg, Russell, and the immediate vicinity.

Mrs. Loney received her guests in a navy blue lace frock with which she wore a corsage of Tallman roses, a gift from her grandchildren. Mr. Loney's boutonniere was a gift from the same source.

The anniversary table was laid with a white linen cloth centered with a three-tier cake which was decorated in coral and white and flanked by coral colored candles in crystal holders. On a nearby buffet was placed a lovely bowl of flowers and coral candles which were a gift from their children.

Mrs. Milton Wits and Mrs. Perry McDermott poured; Mrs. James Potts, of Harrisburg, served the cake; Mrs. William Brenton had charge of the guest book; Mrs. Orla Buchanan and Mrs. John Fulmer were aides.

The honored ones were remembered with many beautiful flowers, a purse of money and other gifts, together with cards and greetings from a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

SUCCESSFUL PARTY

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court 834, held a very successful card party recently in St. Joseph's Hall, with prizes going to the following:

James Valone and Henry Hunsinger, duplicate bridge; Jo Slary and Charles Diech, high; Mrs. Jean Lavery, second, in contract bridge; Mrs. Irene Musante and Charles Musante, high, Rose Gerardi and Gerald Lindberg, second, for auction bridge; Miss Margaret McNally, high, and Isabel McGinnis, second, in canasta; Mrs. McGinnis and John Fowley, high, Best Sullivan and Frank Kozak, high, second, in five hundred.

Other prizes were awarded to Elizabeth Diamond, Elsie Scallise, Willard Briggs and Mrs. James Valone.

ERIE PRESBYTERIAL MEETING WEDNESDAY

Presbyterian women throughout this area will be in Warren Wednesday to attend a meeting of the Erie Presbyterial, scheduled from 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. in the local church of that denomination.

In addition to bringing sandwiches for the noon lunch, those attending are reminded to bring canned goods, jams and jellies for sending to the Cambridge Springs Hospital.

WRIGHTSVILLE AID PLANNING BENEFIT

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the benefit supper to be given by the Wrightsville church aid Wednesday evening in its effort to raise funds for completing a basement under the church. Serving, starting at five o'clock, will be at the Hallgreen home in Wrightsville and will feature a chop suey menu. A large turnout is hoped for in order that sufficient money may be raised for the church project.

Simpson-Paul Wedding At Bradford Sept. 15th

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Paul, St. Marys, Ontario, Canada, announce that the marriage of their daughter, Audrey Hazel, of Toronto, to Gerald P. Simpson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Park Simpson, 211 Russell street, took place Saturday, September 15, in the First Presbyterian church at Bradford. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul H. McKee at 5:00 p. m.

The bride was attired in a gold brocaded satin cocktail suit, with gold velvet hat and brown accessories. She carried a gold evening bag and wore a purple orchid corsage.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. F. E. Hagberg, sister of the bridegroom, wore a beige tulle cocktail suit, with chartreuse feather hat, brown accessories and a green orchid corsage.

F. E. Hagberg, of Warren, served as best man for his brother-in-law.

Only the immediate families were present. After the reception, held at "The Castle," Allegany, N. Y., the bridal couple left on a motor trip through the New England states and Quebec.

Those attending from away were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Dunsmuir, and H. F. Robinson, all of St. Marys, Ont.; and Mrs. A. L. Clendenning, Warren.

President's Day Opens Season At Woman's Club

The Woman's Club officially opened its year's activities with President's Day yesterday afternoon. The club's entertainment committee had charge of the program and tea at which a great many members were present.

Mrs. Harriett Wilkins, music department chairman, introduced Mrs. E. R. Sanford, soloist of the Presbyterian church, who delighted her audience with two groups of soprano selections. She was accompanied by Miss Jean Robertson.

Departmental chairmen gave resumes of the activities for the coming year, and year books were distributed. Afternoon tea was served from an artistically decorated table. Mrs. Robert Israel and Mrs. Harriett Wilkins poured.

OVERSEAS — Cpl. Robert C. Beach, who served as Army recruiting officer in Warren last year, has left for New Jersey after spending a 72-hour pass with his wife and parents, 511 West Fifth avenue, prior to leaving for overseas and assignment to the 302nd Field Hospital somewhere in Europe.

Beach's new duties will be his third overseas assignment since he entered the Army in 1941. During World War II, he was in Africa, Italy and Sicily with the famous 45th Division; in 1947-48, he was in Japan in a Military Government section of the 8th Army.

JOHN MANGUS NAMED ALPHA CLUB PREXY

John Mangus, Warren High senior, was chosen president of the Alpha-H-Y Club at the meeting held in the YMCA last evening for election of officers.

Other boys selected to serve with Mangus this year were Bob Harrington, vice president; Jon Pearson, secretary; Dick Lundahl, treasurer; and Marshall Olney, chaplain.

Where in previous years the H-Y has taken in all three high school grades, the program is now broken into two groups. The above chapter is made up of juniors and seniors, under the advisement of John Stachowiak, while the Beta Chapter will include only sophomores and will meet with Joe Oelslager.

Results of the younger organization's election shows Bruce Duell, president; Charles Salerno, vice president; Gary Ettinger, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Helmbrecht, chaplain.

Alpha members have set their meeting dates for every other Monday, but no time has been arranged yet for the Beta meetings.

Green City Murder Case

By Wm. G. Bogart

Chapter 12

JOHNNY had quickly closed the window, locked it, and pulled down the shade. Stepping back to the wall he turned on the light again. Moe was climbing to his feet, brushing snow from his clothes.

"How'd you even know the address," said Johnny.

"Nancy told me. She listened in on the call."

"My God," said Johnny. "I have no privacy at all!"

"She thought you might get into trouble."

"You might look in the bathroom," Johnny advised. He started pushing things aside in the bureau drawer.

Moe, following Johnny's instructions, opened the bathroom door, started inside, then let out a yelp. He came back out into the bedroom at high speed.

"Johnny... she's dead!"

Nodding, Johnny Saxon started searching through another dresser drawer. "She was strangled, sweetheart," said Johnny. "She's dead like a murder."

The word "murder" stopped Moe Martin. An alertness replaced the usual worried expression in his eyes. He stared at Johnny Saxon. Slowly he asked, "How long ago—did it happen?"

"Within the past two hours or so."

Moe's gaze went around the bedroom, then to the doorway leading to the living room, then back to Johnny. He looked as though he expected someone to come through that connecting doorway any minute. "What?" he asked in a somewhat subdued voice, "if the killer comes back?"

"He might, you know!"

"I doubt it, uncle. I wish he would, though! The guy broke up something that might have proved very interesting. Johnny signed a check of letters he had found in the dresser, and started glancing through them."

Moe was silent. Then: "Johnny?"

"Hummm?" Johnny Saxon murmured absently.

"Let's get out of here," Moe's tone was tense. "Let's get as far away as possible. Right now! Why, people could even accuse us of murder!"

"They could at that, peppy."

"Why don't you call the police, tell them what's happened, and then let's get out of here?"

Johnny was reading another letter. The paper was faded and old.

He said, "I'll call the police later—but not from here. They might hold us for questioning. A thing like this could drag on for days, weeks."

Moe was quite in agreement. "That's all the more reason we should get away from this apartment as—"

"It's a shame she was killed," interrupted Johnny. His finger tapped the letter he'd been reading. "She must have been married once. Here's one of the letters she wrote to the guy. I wish she wrote letters like this one."

Moe asked, "Who was he? That might be a lead."

"So far, I haven't been able to find out. She merely called him 'Sam'. That's no help to us at all."

"Look, Johnny," his partner pleaded, "let's scram—"

"All right," Johnny Saxon agreed. "There's little else any way." His glance fell on the woman's black gown and he noted it was a slip of paper fluttered to the floor of paper beneath the dress.

Retrieving the paper, Johnny saw that it was a clipping from a recent addition of a Cincinnati daily. Moe stuck his head around Johnny's shoulder and started reading also. It was Moe who gave a startled cry.

"A convict—escaped! A lifer!" Johnny nodded thoughtfully.

He took the letters from his pocket, glanced at the date on one. "Ten years," he murmured quietly. "It could be."

Moe picked up his thought. "Yes. The guy was sentenced ten years ago. Now he's free, escaped from prison. Maybe it was him."

"His eyes, large and round again, held Johnny's. 'Maybe he's a husband'."

"That's just what I was thinking," said Johnny calmly as he put the clipping and letters back in his pocket.

"Come on!" urged Moe Martin. "It isn't healthy around here. An escaped convict wandering around."

Johnny was putting on his coat now. As he did, his eyes touched upon the telephone stand and the little square box containing squares of loose scratch pad paper. Recalling that Jeannette Evans had learned his name and address, and had called him, "Yeah," up the box. It was just possible she might have jot-ted down his name. That would be an incriminating thing to leave behind—

Then he exclaimed sharply, "The hell!"

"What's wrong?" asked his partner.

Johnny kept tilting the little box so that light struck the top-most sheet of loose paper. He saw the indications made on the clean sheet—impressions left by a pencil that had been used to write on a sheet above this one. But that piece of paper was gone, removed.

Johnny's name, the address of the office he was using in the Carew Tower building and the phone number were all readable in the sharp impressions.

Someone had removed the top-most sheet. Someone now knew his name, and where he could be reached.

Moe had been watching. He understood. He said worriedly, "Johnny, maybe the murderer tore off that scratch sheet. Put yourself in his shoes. He'd wonder just what Jeannette told you and he'd know he'd wonder just how much you know."

"Not a very pleasant thought is it?"

"Johnny, it's like holding T.N.T. in your hands!"

"Worse—because I can't let go of it. I'm stuck with it."

"Good Lord, what are you going to do?"

Johnny Saxon removed several more sheets from the scratch pad just to be certain that the police would not find any impressions of his name left there. He put on his hat and gloves, then said, "When we get out of here, we'll call the police and tip them to this murder. Then, I'd like to get something to eat."

He turned off the light, led the way to the hall door, peered on the other side that no one was coming, then motioned his partner to follow him.

He grabbed Moe's arm. "No that way," he indicated the partially raised window at the rear of the hall. "We won't be seen if we slip out this way."

He waited until Moe climbed over the sill and dropped to the ground a few feet below. Then he swung his long leg over in order to follow. Just as he did a woman's high heels came tapping quickly along the hall.

Johnny's head snapped around.

Chapter 13

THE woman was no more than thirty feet away from him, and he dared not move lest he attract her attention. She was reaching in her purse for something, apparently her apartment key, otherwise surely she would have spotted him.

Johnny did not move.

At first he thought the woman was going to Jeannette Evans' apartment. She was a short, thin person, and her movements were quick. She looked like the high-strung type who would scream at heaven if she saw a man straddling a window sill.

But she did not stop at Jeannette's door. It was one just opposite into which she fitted the key. An instant later she had closed the door behind her.

Johnny let out his breath, swung his other leg over the sill, managed to balance on the window ledge until he had carefully lowered the window behind him. Then he dropped easily to the ground.

"What kept you?" whispered Moe Martin.

"A dame."

"What—again?"

"She headed toward the street, reached it unnoted, turned left and swung toward Reading Road, the main highway slicing this section of the city. Just a few blocks away was a shopping center. They walked in that direction."

Johnny selected a drugstore that was fairly busy. There was a bank of telephone booths just inside the front door. Moe Martin waited outside the store while his friend went inside to make the call.

Johnny dialed police headquarters, gave them an exact though brief description of the crime and where they could find Jeannette Evans. In response to questions that were immediately fired at him—he knew it was a police device used while they traced the incoming call—he hung up the receiver and left the store.

"Let's get away from here but fast," he said to Moe.

They walked a block down the street crossed the thoroughfare, and almost immediately spotted a empty cab headed back toward downtown Cincinnati. Johnny had turned up his collar. It was snowing, and cold.

They had entered the taxicab, traveled no more than two or three blocks when a police car passed them going out Reading Road, its siren ringing through the falling snow.

Moe said, "The police dispatcher lost no time putting that on the air."

The driver's voice reached them through the partially opened window between front and rear seats. "There'll be plenty of accidents a night like this."

"Yeah," agreed Johnny. To his partner he whispered, "Better keep quiet. He might connect us with the police car going out there right at the time he picked us up."

Moe settled down in the corner, looking forlorn, making one final comment. "We had to get mixed up in this!"

JOHNNY guessed Moe was right. Because he had been curious about a brunette, and an old desk, he had walked into a murder setup. Worse—he knew less about the crime than he did before! And being an inquisitive person, that bothered him more than anything else.

It was almost nine-thirty by the time they neared the downtown office building. Johnny instructed the driver, "Hotel Gibson."

There, they could cut through the lobby and the arcade, come out on Fourth Street, circle the block to Vine Street and return to the Carew Tower building. Cab drivers usually remembered too much.

Snow trucks were out now, moving like clumsy tanks through the streets. As they hurried up Vine Street a streetcar-sweeper passed, sending snow cascading toward the curb.

There was an arcade that led through the office building, past department store shops, and then on to the Netherland-Plaza Hotel itself.

JOHNNY guessed Moe was right. Because he had been curious about a brunette, and an old desk, he had walked into a murder setup. Worse—he knew less about the crime than he did before! And being an inquisitive person, that bothered him more than anything else.

It was almost nine-thirty by the time they neared the downtown office building. Johnny instructed the driver, "Hotel Gibson."

Motor Fatalities Show Increase In Autumn and Winter

New York.—Anticipated pleasures of golden autumn—holiday excursions, football weekends, hunting, the scenic grandeur of changing foliage—should be tempered by caution because of the seasonal rise in fatal motor vehicle and firearm accidents, warn the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's statisticians.

About 28 per cent of all motor vehicle fatalities occur during the three autumn months, a higher proportion than in summer, although the volume of travel drops off. Fewer hours of daylight, poor weather, and wet autumn leaves on the highways are blamed.

The concentration in autumn of one third of the annual firearm deaths reflects the increase in hunting. A large proportion of such deaths, the statisticians observe, are preventable. These circumstances are cited:

Some of the fatal accidents result from hunters accidentally shooting themselves or others through careless gun handling; all too often a hunter will climb over or through a fence with his gun carried in a dangerous position. Each year a number of hunters are killed when the guns of their companions are accidentally discharged while being loaded or are caught in the underbrush. Many hunters are fatally wounded when they are mistaken for game.

"With the approach of autumn," the statisticians declare, "people should be made aware of the special hazards of that season. At the same time they should be reminded that accidents are a serious menace to life at all seasons and that the best assurance of personal safety is the development of a safe way of living that will carry throughout the year."

TALENT NEEDED FOR OPTIMIST CLUB SHOW

Try-outs for the forthcoming Optimist-sponsored home talent revue and minstrel "Ridin' High," to be presented October 16-17, were held last evening at the Y. M. C. A.

George Nelson, talent chairman, announced that a good number of people were interested in participating in this venture of the Optimist Club to raise funds for the Warren Boys Choir and to further the Optimists boys work, but many more actors, actresses, singers and dancers are needed for the production.

Try-outs will continue tonight and tomorrow night at St. Joseph's auditorium. Anyone interested in lending a helping hand should come to the auditorium between 7:30 and 8 p. m. this evening.

ULYSSES S. FLATT
Corydon, Oct. 2.—Word has been received here that Ulysses S. Flatt, aged 87 and early settler of this community, died in the Bradford Hospital Friday after a short illness. Born in Corydon, he had followed the oil fields most of his life and had been a resident of Bradford for the past 35 years.

Surviving are three sons: Guy U. Flatt, Schenectady, N. Y.; Merle J. Flatt, Troy, N. Y.; and Leslie Flatt, Watervliet, N. Y.; also two sisters, Mrs. Florence Parsons and Mrs. Lottie McLean, both of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; several grandchildren, several great-grandchildren, nieces and nephews. Services in his memory were held Monday from the Mimm Funeral Home in Bradford, the Rev. Paul Miller officiating, and burial followed in Riverview cemetery here.

MYRTLE MARIE STAHLMAN

Services were held at the McDonald Funeral Home at Marienville Monday for Myrtle Marie Stahlman, five year old daughter of Raymond and Ruby Stahlman, of that place, who was fatally burned last Friday when her clothing ignited from a stove in the family home.

The Rev. Mary McNaughton officiated for the rites, during which two solos were sung by Mrs. Richard Kiser, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Carl Burgeson. Interment was made in the family plot in the Jefferson cemetery at Baxter, Pa., with the following serving as bearers: Connie Lou Liston, Nancy Whitman, Bob Lucas and Jimmy Delbie.

Besides her parents, the child leaves the following sisters: Mrs. Fay Shaffer, Mrs. Mary Lou Walton, Florence, Pauline, Ella Anna-Bella, Bonnie and Verna Stahlman.

L. R. TINGWALL
Lawrence Robert Tingwall, assistant superintendent of mails in the Warren post office and veteran of World War I, died at 5:15 a. m. today at his home, 1921 Pennsylvania avenue, east, aged 52 years. Born at Kelleysville on November 5, 1898, he had lived here since he was one year of age. A member of Epworth Methodist church, he was also affiliated with the Dinsmoor-Schwinger Post, VFW, and Chief Complanter Post, American Legion.

Besides his wife, Ann Tingwall, he leaves two children, Lois

Elaine and James E. Tingwall, both of Warren; also two brothers and three sisters: Axel Tingwall and Mrs. Clair Beyer, Warren; Clarence Tingwall, Salamanca, N. Y.; Mrs. William Crull, Syracuse, N. Y.; and Mrs. Lenus Oberg, Jamestown, N. Y.

Removal has been made to the Peterson Funeral Home, where friends will be received at the regular calling hours, starting at seven o'clock this evening. Services in his memory will be held there at 2:00 p. m. Thursday, the Rev. James Kelly officiating and interment following in Oakland cemetery.

MRS. JULIA ANTILL
Mrs. Julia Antill, 79, of 131 Fourth street, Cory, died suddenly at 1 p. m. yesterday. She was admitted to the Cory Memorial Hospital on Sunday.

The deceased had lived in Cory for the past six years, going there from Rome township. She was born on June 26, 1872, at Columbus, Warren county. She was married to Jonas Antill, who preceded her in death.

Surviving are a brother, Arthur Schermerhorn, of Clymer, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. Jennie Wiley, of Cory; three grandsons, Albert Blanchard of Spartansburg, R. D., Edwin and Norman Beethoven of Erie, and three great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Davison Funeral Home in Cory at any time and services will be held there at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery at Spartansburg.

MRS. LOUISE M. BAKER

Services were held at 2:00 p. m. Monday at the Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home for Mrs. Louise Baker, Warren RD 2, whose death occurred last Friday. Rev. INFANT FARNHAM

Darlene Sue Farnham, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Farnham, Hemlock street extension, died unexpectedly this morning at the Warren General Hospital.

In addition to her parents, she leaves a brother, Ronald; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gael Mead, of Hemlock; and several aunts and uncles.

Removal has been made to the Templeton Funeral Home, where friends will be received at the usual calling hours starting at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday. Arrangements for services are still incomplete and will be announced later.

HOSPITAL ATTENDANT DIES IN HIS SLEEP

Samuel G. Craft, 39, attendant at the Warren State Hospital, North Warren, passed away in his sleep this morning at his home, 205 Seneca avenue. During an investigation of the sudden death, Coroner Ed Lowrey was informed that Mr. Craft had been treated by a physician for a slight heart attack Monday evening before retiring. He was found by his father about 7:15 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, Bertha, patient at the Maternity Hospital, and a two-day old daughter, Judy Ann. In addition to his father he is also survived by two brothers, Laird Clark Craft, Brookville RD 4, and Russell Vincent Craft, Wellsburg, W. Va. Removal was made to the Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home. Plans for the services will be announced later.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our appreciation for the beautiful flowers and the many other kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

James Ellsworth Reppine, Youngsville RD 1, and Mabel Robert Shollenberger, Warren RD 3, were issued a marriage license at the office of Registrar and Recorder Don Schuler this morning. Application for a license was made today by Willard Lee "Lightinger," Tidouate, and Frances Therese Camarce, Bradford.

BEAUTIFUL TREE

Outstanding in autumnal beauty in Warren today is the stately maple on the northwest corner of Liberty street and Fourth avenue. Somewhat ahead of its brethren, this tree started to turn early last week and is now at the height of its colorful magnificence.

MISS STONE HONORED

Miss Elaine A. Stone, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Warren M. Stone, 605 Conewango avenue, has been elected for a two-year term to the Student Council at the Moore Institute of Art, Philadelphia, where she is a resident student. Miss Stone graduated in 1950 at the Baldwin School, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

CLASSES TO START

It has been announced by school and church officials that classes in religious education for students in the ninth grade at Beatty Junior High school and all grades in Warren High will begin tomorrow afternoon. Regular class periods for these students will be shortened so that all whose parents have signed permission slips will be excused at 1:50 p. m. to go to the churches of their choice, where religious instruction is given.

ace still in combat made one of the kills. It was the third jet for Col. Francis S. Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa. He was credited with 31 German planes in World War Two.

Lt. Col. George J. Ols of Arcadia, Fla., knocked out the other red-nosed jet. It was his first. Both Red Jets went down in flames.

Gabreski and Ols came upon the MIGs at 10,000 feet. The Red jets split up as the Sabre jets swept down on them.

Date Set to Open Bids For Proposed Elementary School

Warren board of education, at its October meeting at the high school last evening, set Monday, November 12, at 8:00 p. m. as the date and hour for opening of bids on the proposed new elementary building which will be erected at the corner of Conewango and Jefferson avenues.

The architectural firm of Lawrie and Green, Harrisburg, are preparing specifications for the structure, which will replace the present Johnson and South Street schools and will cost an estimated $478,000.

Also set by the board was the date, November 19, when the local board and school administrative officials will entertain at Beatty school the boards of those townships which send tuition pupils to Warren's junior and senior high schools. In this connection, Superintendent Carl Whipple was authorized to invite as guest speaker Ray Robinson, in charge of transportation and consolidation for the state department of public instruction.

Approval was given the school district's payment of its apportionment of $31.32 for a statewide study of superintendents' duties and problems, being carried out under partial subsidization by the Ford Foundation.

Plans were discussed for representation by Superintendent Whipple and Gerald Newton at the Boston meeting of the American Association of School Administrators; and the board heard the superintendent's report on his attendance at the Education Congress held in Harrisburg last weekend.

Acting on a request by the Civilian Defense Council, approval was given for the use of Lacy, Home, Beatty and Seneca buildings as temporary first aid stations in case of emergency.

Authorization was also given the start of night school classes with local instructors: Commercial, Anna Jane Hawkins; sewing, Edna Thompson; ceramics, Gerda Lawrence; landscape art, Joseph P. Spence; woodworking, H. H. Nichols, and high school work for veterans, Robert Young.

Payment of current bills was authorized in the sum of $23,560.27 and the board heard reports of bills amounting to $1,415.78 paid from the activities accounts. Other financial reports showed orders written for maintenance, repairs and operational expenses amounting to $592.13 and for other expenses, $4,018.65; cafeteria supplies and services, $3,976.59; special services, $26.50; janitors' overtime, $148.06.

Additional financial items approved included the necessary increase in salary for Miss Catherine Henderson, who has received her bachelor of science degree in library science; setting of kindergarten tuition rates at $8 per month; and approval of correctional service for correspondence courses, $210.

GRADED STARS

The ancient Egyptians were the first people to attempt to grade the stars according to their brilliance, using six grades of brightness. The very brightest stars they could see were of the first magnitude.

Boxed Up Boxer

To the Editor:
I'm a good deal ashamed of this story that Roy Uthe, of South Dakota, sent me:
KANSAS CITY.—(AP)—When Mr. and Mrs. Barney Mahoney set out on a home Wednesday night, they found vases overturned and signs of disorder. In the kitchen they found the culprit, a tipsy dog. Their pet boxer, a usually well-mannered, had knocked a bottle of wine off a table, lapped it up, and gone on the spree. Well, you see what can happen, even to someone who with dog sense—if he doesn't use it! But this certainly ought to make teetotalers out of Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney—unless they don't care if the whole family goes to the dogs.
RAGS

Whenever there has been an advance in sales of alcoholic products, there is an inevitable increase in lawlessness. We can hardly expect anything but moral collapse when the homes of America are invaded hourly with false propaganda about beverage alcohol; when there are more barmaids than young women in all of our colleges and universities; when liquor plays such a prominent part in politics and "barter tricks" as we now witness in America.

WHO DECIDES HOW MUCH A STOCK WILL COST ME?

You may say, "Everybody knows the answer to that question." Unfortunately, everybody doesn't! A good many people have some very wrong ideas about stock prices. And that kind of misinformation doesn't do anyone any good. So, let's look at the facts.

When you buy or sell stock on the New York Stock Exchange, the price is decided by you and all other investors bidding for, or offering to sell, that stock. The most a buyer will pay and the least an owner will take set the price. The price is not decided or "set" by Wall Street or by the Stock Exchange. It is not decided by "big" bankers, "big" brokers or "big" anybody else.

Remember, each company listed on the New York Stock Exchange has just so many shares outstanding. And the orders of people all over the country to buy or sell those shares come to the trading floor of the Exchange. There, prices are arrived at in open competition between brokers representing buyers and sellers... and are published, promptly for all to see.

In this process, prices reflect the basic law of supply and demand. That is why stock prices change. When public demand for a stock is greater than the amount of stock offered for sale by other investors, then the price is very apt to go up. When the amount of stock offered for sale is greater than demand, then the price will probably go down.

An investor's decision to buy or sell a particular stock reflects his judgment of what it is worth to him. Member firms of the New York Stock Exchange are glad to answer any of your questions about investments... without obligation to you.

Grass-Legume Silage High in Feeding Value

Silage occupies an important place in livestock feeding in the United States. It has greater palatability, a higher carotene content, and is less wasteful in feeding than any other form of forage preserved on the farm. It can be made under conditions not favorable for curing dry fodder and hay, saving a larger percentage of leaves, green color, and total nutrients for feeding.

The silo can be made to perform double-duty by filling it with the early summer lush growth of grasses and legumes for possible use during the

Giants' Miracle Team Can Win National League Crown Today

New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Today will be the day when New York's miracle Giants clinch the most sensational surge in National League history by winning the pennant.

For the first time this year, following yesterday's clean-cut 3-1 Bobbitt Field victory over Brooklyn in the first of the best-of-three game playoff, the Giants and themselves solidly entrenched in the driver's seat.

Professional odds-makers, who only six weeks ago were offering 50 to 1 odds against the Giants' pennant chances, have established Leo Durocher's darlings a prohibitive favorite to drub the Dodgers again for the right to meet the Yankees in an all-New York World Series.

The World Series will start Thursday at the Yankee Stadium regardless of which team wins the playoff.

Charlie Dressen's weary Dodgers trudge into the Polo Grounds this afternoon, trailing the Giants for the first time since the opening week of the campaign. Yesterday's loss dropped them a full game behind the Giants, who were behind Brooklyn by 1 1/2 games on August 11. Since then the Giants have won 28 of 45, including their last eight in a row, while the Dodgers have taken only 26 of 50.

Brooklyn definitely was the underdog as Dressen dug deep into his riddled mound corps for a wholesome and rested pitcher. Unless there is an 11th hour switch, Dressen's hesitant choice lay between Carl Erskine (16-12) and Clem Labine (4-1), both young, inexperienced right-handers.

Durocher also was undecided whom to start in the second game. It was to be either Sal Maglie (23-6) or Sheldon Jones (6-10).

Erskine and Labine both saw action in Sunday's dramatic 14-inning thriller in Philadelphia in which the Dodgers were forced to use seven of their 10 pitchers.

Jim Hearn, the big raw-boned right-hander from Atlanta, Ga., pitched probably his best game, certainly the most important, of his career. Five hits were all he allowed as he struck out five and walked only two in outdueling Ralph Branca for his 17th victory.

Second-inning home run by Andy Pafko ended the Dodger shutout. In only one inning—the fourth—the Dodgers got as many as two runners on the base paths. That was when Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson smashed back-to-back singles with one out.

Then, with runners on first and third, Hearn induced Campanella to roll into a double play. The relay to first pulled Whitey Lockman far off the base, but the first baseman still had plenty of time to tag the limping Campanella.

What trouble Hearn encountered during the afternoon was efficiently eradicated by the tight Giant defense, which reeled off four double plays. Second baseman Eddie Stanky figured in all four, and shortstop Alvin Dark took part in three. Catcher Wes Westrum cut down two would-be base stealers with bullet throws to second and caught a flawless game.

Bobby Thomson, hottest hitter on the club during the surge, provided the big blow. The converted third baseman walloped a fourth-inning homer with a mate aboard to erase Brooklyn's 1-0 lead. It was Bobby's 31st four-bagger and his fourth at Ebbets Field. Thomson also starred in the field with a bare-handed grab of a tricky bouncer to throw out Carl Furillo in the sixth.

Monte Irvin, the team's most consistent run producer, also chimed in with a homer, his 24th, and his fifth off Pafko. The crowd of 30,707 sensed that this was the crusher.

Grofers Prepping For Port Allegany

Sugar Grove High football team is swinging back into another week of practice in preparation for their invasion of Port Allegany next Saturday.

Don Falconer, Grover fullback, was injured in last week's game with Southwestern Central, but is reported to be in fine shape.

The weekend tussle resulted in a 24-6 loss for Sugar Grove, but the score only indicates lack of experience as the squad showed plenty of fighting spirit.

The Grovers' lone tally came in the second period after Tom Wakefield hurled a 30-yard aerial to Chuck Smith and then bucked over on a quarterback sneak from the one yard stripe.

(By Joe Gardner)

The action of the Warren Sports Boosters Club in placing that body on record as definitely determined to start a fund ultimately designed to install lights and other improvements on the War Memorial Field, is one of the most farsighted and commendable actions taken by this group since their successful effort on behalf of War Memorial Field itself. There are those who will liken this action of the Sports Boosters to hitching a wagon to a star, however, it was just such spirit on the part of this group which was responsible for the success of their first venture. Not content to rest on their laurels the Sports Boosters in making this decision fully realize the enormity of the project but feel confident that public support will prove them right. There can be no question that despite minor mistakes, the plot of ground, now known as Memorial Field, once a terrible eyesore right in the heart of Warren, is now a park any Warren citizen can be proud of. There is also no question as to the need of further improvements that are vitally necessary and would make this field second to none in this section of the state. No town can stand still, it must grow or die and if it were to live it must attract new industries which are the very source of its future life and growth. Before modern industries settle in a locality they first feel the pulse beat of the community chosen and if they find a progressive minded citizenry, willing to help in the building of that future, that is where they will settle. Can there be any question but that a recreational field complete with lights, swimming pool, tennis courts, etc. would be of material help in attracting industries to Warren?

To this end it must be the duty of every citizen to see to it that the plan headed by the Sports Boosters Club, although seemingly grandiose, does not fall by the wayside. If you are not yet a member of the Sports Boosters Club you may procure a membership card by sending one dollar and your name and address to Sports Boosters, P. O. Box 501, Warren, Penna. The card you receive by return mail can only serve to identify you as a member, that alone is not enough. The success of this venture depends on the activity of the entire membership and its willingness to push each plan the club proposes to its fullest, so that by the spring of '52 a satisfactory financial start will have been made.

Dragon Gridders Open Drills for Final League Tilt at Meadville

Turning their backs on last Saturday's 9-0 heartbreaker with Oil City, the Warren High Dragons are out on the drill field again prepping for their final league game against the Meadville Bulldogs this Friday night.

So far this season the Bulldogs have posted a similar record to that of the Blue and White, 3 and 1, bowing to Farrell 36-14, and winning over Conneaut Valley 45-0, Franklin 27-6, and last week Pittsburgh South 26-6.

Last year the Bulldogs and Dragons clashed for their first time since 1941 on War Memorial field and the Leidigmen sent them home yapping at a 19-6 score.

A look at the weekend's results showed most of the Dragons' future opponents on the big end of the scoring.

Bradford High gridders, who invade Warren October 13, were the exception as the DuBois Beavers came from behind twice to overshadow the Owls 14-13. It was their first loss of the season after two straight wins.

The Jamestown Raiders have shown plenty of power this season. Starting their schedule two weeks later than Pennsylvania schools, the Jimtowners have played only two games, taking Kenmore 27-6 last Saturday night, and edging Elmira, 14-7, the previous week.

A 40-7 margin was racked up by the Ridgway Elfers against St. Marys Saturday, which indicates they are again another top grid contender. The Dragons invade Ridgway on October 19 and will be seeking revenge on the 18-0 licking handed out by the Elfers here last year.

Geri Is One-Man Scoring Machine

Pittsburgh, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Joe Geri, 185-pound tailback of the Pittsburgh Steelers, scored all his team's points as the Steelers fought the New York Giants to a 13-13 deadlock in their National League opener last night.

Geri kicked two field goals, plunged over for a touchdown and added the conversion to equal the best the favored Giants could do. His spectacular 86-yard kickoff return to the Giant one-yard line in the second quarter brought the crowd of 27,984 to its feet. Three plays later he streaked over for a touchdown.

Little World Series Shifts to Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Milwaukee's Brewers will send Dick Donovan to the mound tonight as they try to even the Little World Series battle with Montreal in their first game at home.

The Montreal Royals, pennant and playoff winners of the International League, hold a two to one lead over American Association Brewers in the best-of-seven series.

Pitchers Hamp Coleman and Chris Van Cuyk are Royal probabilities to start final leg of the series here. The first three games were played at Montreal.

JUST A DAY'S PAY

New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Players on the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers do not share in the gate receipts of their current National League playoff. Each player receives a day's pay, nothing more. All records—pitching and batting—count in the final league averages. Hence, Brooklyn's Gil Hodges, with 39 home runs, has an outside chance to overcome Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner for the home run lead. Kiner, who finished his season Sunday, hit 42 round-trippers.

Warren Reserves Are Winners In Two Grid Scraps

Two Warren High Reserve squads rode the victory trail yesterday, scoring wins over Titusville and Kane second stringers.

At War Memorial Field the upper half of the Warren squad played host to Kane and sent them home with a 29-0 defeat after quarterback Leroy Salerno threw three touchdown passes and Bud Terry returned a punt to pay dirt.

Salerno's first two scoring aials were to Chuck Fisher and Dick Henderson for 30 and 55 yards respectively. Then Terry galloped 52 yards on the return and later took a 30-yard scoring pass.

Dick Walchli and Clark Wright accounted for two of the extra points, and Terry plunged to complete the four.

At Titusville the Juniors and Sophomores worked the Little Rockers over with a 39-0 triumph.

The Dragonettes' scoring honors were shared, with Morris maneuvering 80 yards for the highlighting run of the game. Mooney scored on a 20 yard excursion, and Jim Tridico scampered 15 and 25 yards to touch pay dirt twice.

Suppa, Warren sub, intercepted a blocked pass and ran 15 yards, and Dick Hartnett gobbled up a Mooney aerial for the final scoring. The latter also scored all three of Warren's PATs.

A McCoy-McGee combination accounted for Titusville's only TD.

Plenty of Action Marks Warren-Oil City Football Contest

Representative of the see-saw action which marked the Warren-Oil City Grid clash at Memorial Field, which the Oilers won, 9-0, are these scenes caught by the Times-Mirror photographer. Upper left shows Al Colvenbach, speedy back, ripping off 19 yards for a first down on the Warren 28. Ed Frontera, wearing Dragon jersey No. 38, is trying for the tackle. Upper right photo caught George Scallise (dark jersey, center) when he returned a kickoff 15 yards. Oil City tackler in foreground missed Scallise, but plenty more trouble is coming up fast. Third photo shows start of one of the best runs of game when Bud Terry (No. 39) grabbed Oiler punt near his own goal and raced to the Oil City 45.

Change Made In Homecoming Plans At Sheffield High

L. C. Eisenhower, Sheffield high school principal, today announced a change in plans for the Wolverines' annual homecoming football game Saturday.

Sheffield originally was scheduled to Youngville, but this game was cancelled and for a replacement, the Wolverines will tangle with a Warren high squad of Juniors and Sophomores.

Eisenhower said the action was taken because of the recent case of polio contracted by one member of the Youngville squad.

"We know the Youngville school officials are doing everything in their power to prevent any further outbreak," the principal said. "but the Sheffield school board decided the game with the Eagles should be cancelled purely as a precautionary measure."

New York—U. S. Olympic committee picked special committee to select hockey team for 1952 Olympics and announced that U. S. teams would fly to winter games at Oslo and summer games at Helsinki.

BURKE FAVORED TO WIN IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Mayor Thomas A. Burke was a top-heavy favorite to win one of the two mayoral nominations in the city's non-partisan primary election today.

The other candidates for the $15,000-a-year post are Juvenile Judge William J. McDermott, the Republican standard-bearer, and Municipal Judge Charles A. Vank, a Democrat.

Burke, who has the support of the regular Democrat organization, has been mayor for three terms.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

IF YOU ARE CAREFUL CORRECT PLAY IS EASY

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

A story goes with today's hand. The man who played it managed to lose the grand slam, and his partner was indignant. "It's an absolute laydown," said the angry one. "There's no guesswork and no fancy business. It's just a matter of putting one card down after another."

Still sputtering, he showed the hand to a succession of experts. One after another, they muffed the hand. Only two or three saw the right line of play. So he stopped sputtering. Maybe it was a difficult hand after all; but the right play is so very, very simple.

West opened the device of hearts for some obscure reason of his own. Declarer won in dummy with the ace of hearts and laid down the ace of diamonds. East dropped the ten, and declarer rightly assumed that this was a singleton. South decided that the hand could not be made if the hearts were 5-1, so he next cashed the king of hearts. He returned a low heart from dummy and ruffed with the nine of diamonds to shut West out.

Declarer now took the ace of clubs and ruffed a club with dommy's four of trumps. He next ruffed out the jack of hearts with the jack of diamonds and suddenly saw that he was in trouble. If he ruffed another club in dummy he would have no way of returning to his hand. If he didn't ruff the club, he would be one trick short.

That was the end of him. Now, how about you? Can you see the really simple play that stumped the experts?

The first three tricks are all right. Dummy takes the ace of hearts, ace of diamonds, the king of hearts. But then the hearts must be sidetracked for a moment. South must take the ace of clubs and ruff a club in dummy. Now he can ruff a heart with the nine of diamonds and ruff his other low clubs in dummy. The king of diamonds is next taken to draw a second round of trumps. Finally, South ruffs another heart with the pack of diamonds, thus setting up a heart and at the same time gaining the lead to draw West's last trump. At this point South can discard a spade from dummy while drawing the last trump; and discards another spade on the king of clubs. Dummy wins the rest with the ace of spades and the last heart.

Interesting Bible Course Is Adopted By Calvary Baptist

How much do you know about the Bible? Haven't you often wished you could quote some of its gems or be able to turn right to the portion that comes to your mind? Can you turn to passages that will comfort you in time of sorrow, or sickness, or fear? Can you find the places which tell about Heaven?

Almost everyone wishes he knew more about this World's Best Seller but it's so easy to procrastinate that you don't know where to begin. You can always study your Bible by yourself, but it's much easier and more fun if you can do it systematically and regularly.

After a long study of available lesson materials, the Calvary Baptist Sunday School has selected what it believes is the finest curriculum available. These materials are published by Scripture Press and are graded by age departments. The full course beginning with the Nursery Department through the Adult Department covers the entire Bible instead of just the more familiar passages touched upon by the uniform lessons.

This year, the Calvary Sunday School has six separate departments, each meeting in its own assembly room and class rooms. A large staff of consecrated workers teaches and administers the school. The Bible itself is the principal "tool" and the textbooks and other lesson materials simply implement this Book.

Of special interest to adults and senior high students is a full year course in Bible prophecy. Beginning next Sunday with Old Testament prophecies it extends through the unfulfilled prophecies, especially in the book of Revelation.

From an average attendance of 37 just five years ago, the Calvary Baptist Sunday School has grown to an average of 166 for the year which closed last Sunday. In order to provide proper facilities, it was necessary to erect a new Sunday School building which provides more floor space than the church building itself.

Readers who would like to get in on this regular plan of Bible study are urged to attend next Sunday morning at 9:45. There is no tuition nor charge for textbooks. The School is located at the corner of Redwood and Center streets, just one block east of Beatty Playground.

RENT CONTROL NEWS RELEASE

Office of The Housing Expediter, Area Rent Office, 707 Commerce Building, Erie, Penn'a

Question: If an apartment is rented fully furnished and the landlord allows the tenant to replace the same with his own furniture (storing the original furniture in the basement), will this affect the rent ceiling of the apartment?

Answer: No! There will be no change in the maximum legal rent as long as the furniture is available for the use of the tenant. However, if the furniture is sold by the landlord or is thrown out by the landlord and is no longer available to the tenant a reduction in rent is in order on the basis of decreased services.

Question: How much rent in advance can a landlord collect on a furnished apartment as a guarantee that the furnishings will not be misused and left as received, reasonable use and wear excepted?

Answer: In general, a landlord may not collect a security deposit more than one week's or one month's rent in advance (depending on whether he rents by week or month) unless that landlord customarily required additional security deposit prior to January 30, 1942. However, a landlord of a furnished apartment may petition the Rent Office for an order authorizing the demand and receipt from the tenant of a deposit, not to exceed $10, to secure the return of the movable articles specified in the order.

Question: Is a lease legal if it requires the tenant to give up or

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York—(AP)—American industry is doing a record amount of building this year—expanding in a $25-billion-a-year rush to build up military might.

Today some businessmen are wondering: What are we going to do with all these defense plants, once the need for so much expansion of military might is over?

Most of the new plants and new tools of production are for defense or defense-supporting industries. But most of them can be converted to making goods for civilians, when the time comes that the military doesn't need—on a keeping-going basis—as much industrial plant as it does now on a building-up basis.

Business doesn't question the need for defense nor the emphasis now concentrated on tooling-up for it. It can't help wondering, though, about two things:

1. When the defense building boom stops, will other construction needs be enough to keep this major prop of the economy still standing—or will there be a building slump and unemployment?
2. If plants now being built for defense production are no longer needed for that, will civilian demands for the goods they make be enough to keep them running—or will our industrial production capacity be seriously over-expanded?

The rush to invest in new plants is already slowing down in most industries, the department of commerce reports. Notable exceptions are: Primary steel and nonferrous metals, non-electrical machinery, non-automotive transportation equipment and rubber.

But the momentum of plans already made indicate that building will continue at a high rate well into 1952, depending on how much material is made available for construction.

The effect on industry, however, may not reach its greatest force until 1953 or 1954. This time lag is based on World War II experience. The national industrial conference board notes today: "More than half the total additions to manufacturing for the five years 1940-45 had been completed by the end of 1942, and more than three-fourths by the end of 1943. But the peak output of industrial raw materials did not come until 1944."

It is in 1953 or 1954, therefore, that some businessmen fear the nation will have more industrial plants than are needed to keep the military supplies on a replacement basis, and more than civilian demand will need.

OPS is cracking down on packers and slaughterers who disregard its regulations on prices and grading. An around-the-clock watch is being kept by OPS investigators in major cities to insure full compliance, it is reported this week.

forfeit some of his rights under Rent Control?

Answer: From the very beginning of Rent Control the Rent Regulations have provided that each lease would remain in force in accordance with the terms thereof, except for those provisions which were inconsistent with the Rent Regulations. The Rent Regulations specifically provide that an agreement by a tenant to waive the benefits of any provision of such Regulations is null and void.

Question: My tenant is asking me to give him one more room thus making a four-room apartment instead of a three-room apartment. Should I petition the Rent Office for an increase in rent?

Answer: Since the four-room unit is a different and a larger unit the Regulations consider that this is a new unit which must be registered with the Rent Office within 30 days of the date of first rental. If you wish to be certain that the Rent Office will approve the rent you plan on charging for the new unit you may send a letter to the Rent Office requesting that they give you a prior opinion in writing as to the rent that will be approved.
